

possible development. However, any unfavorable conditions must be overcome by appropriate land development techniques. In all cases, on-site investigations of the soil are necessary for the proper design and placement of buildings, foundations, roads, utility lines, and septic systems.